Facts

What does Altisource do with your personal information?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number and credit information
- Demographic information, employment information and information about your transactions with us, our affiliates or others
- Account details, transaction and payment history

How?

All financial companies need to share such customers’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers’ personal information, the reasons Altisource chooses to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

To limit our sharing

Please send us an email to OptOutRequest@Altisource.com, with your name and address, specifying any of the following options:

- Do not share information about my creditworthiness with your Affiliates for their everyday business purposes.
- Do not allow your Affiliates to use my personal information to market to me.
- Do not share my personal information with non-Affiliates to market their products and services to me (we don’t do this).

Please note that we will only take action in response to emails specifically identifying exactly one or more of the above options.

Note: If you are no longer our customer, we may continue to use and/or share your information as described in this notice. However, you can contact us at any time to limit our sharing as described above.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice? Altisource S.à r.l. ("Altisource")
What we do

How does Altisource protect my personal information?
To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

How does Altisource collect my personal information?
We collect your personal information when you access our websites, for example, when you:
- Register on any of our websites
- Update any account information
- Use our websites (including when you add information on a web form or when you otherwise correspond with us regarding our products and services)
- Acquire services and products through our websites

We may also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, Affiliates, third parties and public sources.

Why can’t I limit all sharing?
Federal law gives you the right to limit only:
- Sharing for Affiliates’ everyday business purposes — information about your creditworthiness
- Affiliates from using your information to market to you (on their own behalf)
- Sharing for non-Affiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you more rights to limit sharing. See the section below titled “Other important information” for additional rules that may apply under state law.

Definitions

Affiliates
Companies controlling Altisource, and companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

Non-affiliates
Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

Joint Marketing
An agreement between non-affiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you.
