Over four days, Lenders One members will learn from industry experts, share best practices and discover new ways to grow their business

ST. LOUIS, August 8, 2016 – The Lenders One® Cooperative, a national alliance of independent mortgage bankers, correspondent lenders and suppliers of mortgage products and services, today announced that its network of vendors continues to grow. It is giving members access to a wider array of products, services and resources, allowing them to be competitive in today's marketplace. Lenders One is the largest mortgage cooperative in the industry and keeps expanding its offerings with nine new national program providers and innovative technologies designed to support members' business growth.

Earlier this year, Lenders One launched the proprietary Vendorly™ vendor oversight platform. Vendorly helps members manage their regulatory compliance and increase their operational efficiency. Vendorly has contracted with over 35 Lenders One members on the platform to date.

At this conference, Lenders One will introduce the innovative and proprietary noteXchange® trading platform for buying and selling loans. Lenders One members will have exclusive access to an open beta for this new technology, which will help expand trading options and make the process more efficient for the cooperative.

“We are focused on continually expanding the value we provide to our members by growing our provider network and developing innovative technology that will enable our members to keep pace with a rapidly changing regulatory and customer environment,” said Bryan Binder, Chief Executive Officer of Lenders One. “Several new preferred national program provider additions, along with the growing interest in Vendorly, demonstrate our commitment to giving Lenders One members the tools they need to help thrive in today’s competitive mortgage landscape.”
